OAKLAND BANKER HEADS CHURCHMEN

DO-X STARTS ON N. Y. FLIGHT SOON

NATAL, Brazil, June 6.—(UP)—The DO-X, German flying boat, will proceed northward on its way to New York after a brief visit at Brazilian ports, it was definitely announced today.
Capt. Friedrich Christiansen, in command, said he hoped to leave for Rio de Janeiro shortly for a brief visit in the Brazilian capital. He doubted that they would take the big transatlantic flying yacht further south than Rio, however, desiring to hasten on to the United States.

END OF CAPONE REIGN SEEN IN HIS FEDERAL INDICTMENT

LINDBERGH NOT SURE OF ROUTE ON NEXT TRIP

Declares He May Fly Over Atlantic Instead of Pacific Ocean

NEW YORK, June 6.—(UP)—Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh had under consideration today a plan to fly by way of Greenland and Spitzbergen to the Orient, as an alternative to the projected trans-Pacific flight to China and Japan.

Should the colonel decide on this route instead of the Alaskan and Aleutian Island route, the flight would take him across the Atlantic by airplane for the second time, much of it in the Arctic regions over Europe and Asia and southward into China through Mongolia.

Such a route from New York to the coast of Siberia would cover approximately 4,500 miles. Lindbergh said he was considering this route among others, but declined to discuss it, repeating that his plans still were undetermined. If he follows this plan and flies over Greenland and Spitzbergen, it would be necessary for him to obtain permission from the Danish government, which owns the islands, to land and arrange fuel and supply bases.

He expects to be ready for the flight in about a month, but, like on his famous transatlantic flight, he probably will not set a definite date and time of departure until just before the start.

Mechanics at the J. G. H. Curtis airport in North Beach, Long Island have virtually completed converting Colonel Lindbergh's Lockheed Sirius airplane into a flying boat by putting pontoons on the under carriage.

FOUR INDICTED IN RAW ALCOHOL DEAL

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—(UP)—United States marshals held warrants today for four San Francisco residents indicted with 15 Los Angeles residents on charges of conspiring to ship raw alcohol between the two cities. Those accused here were Frank and John Nolan, E. L. Bertaud and Morris Halpern.

Officials claimed the case involved shipments between last December and March valued at $100,000. Halpern is now serving a term in the county jail at Martinez for a liquor law violation.

"This has been a dignified and informative trip," Mayor George Baker, Portland, Ore., assured the United Press correspondent. "There have been absolutely no un-American incidents."

SEEKS FLYING RECORDS

SAN FRANCISCO, June 6.—(UP)—Plans of James Gilmore Hall, New York sportsman and aviator, to seek two new flying records were revealed today after his arrival at the San Francisco bay airbase, Alameda, for a short visit.
Before returning by plane to Los Angeles, Hall said he hoped to break the record for the "three flag" flight from Vancouver to Agua Caliente, and later will attempt a transcontinental speed mark.

Stages Big Fight All By Himself

CHICAGO, June 6.—(UP)—Frank McElrath, known to police as one of the "toughest" underworld characters in Chicago, was arrested today on a charge of staging a "gang fight" all by himself.
McElrath was found standing in the rain on a south side street corner. Smoke was curling from an automatic shotgun which he held in one hand. A revolver nestled in his other hand. Another shot-gun lay at his feet. Police looked around for "the bodies," but there were none.
The officers theorized that McElrath had drunk too much, then gone "hunting" for enemies who recently riddled the home of his brother-in-law with machine gun bullets.

SACRAMENTO, June 6.—(UP)—A permanent tax research commission to operate under the state board of equalization was created today by Gov. James Rolph Jr., when he signed a bill enacted by the legislature.

In approval of the plan, introduced in the legislature by Sen. H. G. Nelson, the governor reduced the appropriation from $100,000 to $90,000.

FIVE PERSONS LOSE LIVES IN STREET CAVEIN

Four Others Injured and 40 Workmen Escaped—Policeman Killed

PHILADELPHIA, June 6.—(UP)—Five workmen were believed killed by a caving in as they were working in an excavation today 70 feet below the street level.

Four others were injured and at least 40 workmen escaped.

A policeman, Elmer Patterson, was killed when a patrol wagon in which he rode collided with a truck while speeding to the scene of the disaster.

The excavation was being carried on at the corner of Twelfth and Market streets for the construction of the 32-story building of the Philadelphia Savings Fund society.

The five missing men were buried beneath the tons of earth when the south wall of the excavation, 40 feet high, gave way.

Rescuers attempting to find the missing men were halted when it was found the remainder of the wall might collapse and that reinforcements would have to be made before the rescue work could continue.

The Foundation and Construction company, which is building the $6,500,000 structure, gave the names of the missing men as William Ricks, Thomas Ebbs, William Hays, Sam Walker and Leroy Knight.

LIFE TERMS FOR CONVICTED KILLERS

LOS ANGELES, June 6.—(UP)—Life imprisonment was recommended last night by a jury which found Wilbur L. Mossberg and Jacques Samanlego guilty of the murder of Ralph O. Trump, university student.

A previous jury failed to agree on the guilt of the pair, who allegedly killed Trump on the night of October 24, 1928, as he sat with a girl in a parked machine in front of her home.

Because the two defendants entered a double plea, the jury must reassemble Monday in the court of Superior Judge Ruben S. Schmidt and hear the trial over again, on a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity.

Gangster Is Certain To Go To Jail

Chances of Escaping Long Term in Prison Slight, Officials Claim

CHICAGO, June 6.—(UP)—The indictment and surrender of Scarface Al Capone on charges of evading income tax payments was hailed today throughout Chicago as marking definitely the downfall of the most powerful and elusive gang chieftain in local or American history.

Federal, state and city officials, as well as all newspapers, agreed that Capone's chances of escaping conviction and imprisonment were slight. The counts of the indictment are enough to keep Capone in jail 32 years if he is convicted on all.

Such predictions were based upon the record of United States District Attorney George E. O. Johnson, who brought about Capone's indictment after three years of work during which many lesser gangsters were captured and many still destroyed and in which as many as 50 government agents engaged at times.

Capone, the chief of all gang chiefs, was the ninth gangster indicted. Johnson has been successful in his prosecution of the previous eight. It was considered safe to predict he would be successful in the ninth.

Capone's surrender came late yesterday, three hours after indictments against him were made public. He was accompanied to the U. S. marshal's office by his attorneys. A surety bond for $50,000 to cover the amount previously set, preceded him. He was in (Continued on Page 2)

KOVNO, Lithuania, June 6.—(UP)—The Lithuanian government expelled the Papal Nuncio, Riccardo Bartoloni, today, Bartoloni departed by automobile at 1:30 p. m.

The government informed both the Nuncio and the Vatican that Bartoloni was no longer considered a representative of the Holy See, and that henceforth he would be persona non grata.

Bartoloni had been Papal Nuncio to Lithuania for three years.

WILL ROGERS SAYS:

BEVERLY HILLS, June 6. [To the Editor of The Register:] Can't you see a little political foresight in Mr. Coolidge's quitting writing? No country would be cuckoo enough to nominate a columnist for President. Mr. Coolidge's great following was built by not talking, and in saying something every day he took it up through necessity and not preference. When will this country that wastes billions on everything finally do justice to a retiring President and allow him for life at least two-thirds of his Presidential salary? It ought to be worth that much to the taxpayers for the privilege we take in crucifying 'em while in office. Elect 'em for a six-year term, not allow 'em to succeed themselves, that will keep their minds off politics, and the life salary will relieve 'em of any worry of the future.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

REPORT SAYS MUSSOLINI MADE OFFER

Duce Said to Have Offered to Permit Reopening of Catholic Orders

SOLUTION IS SOUGHT Statement Later Today on Fascist Position Is Hinted at By Leaders

ROME, June 6.—(UP)—Pope Pius XI has rejected a purported compromise move made by Premier Benito Mussolini in an effort to placate the pontiff and terminate the controversy between the Fascist regime and the Holy See, it was understood today.

The government was said to have offered to permit the reopening of Catholic young women's clubs, which were closed when the Fascist government disbanded part of the Azione Cattolica, laymen's organization, on charges of political activities against Fascism.

The pope, rejecting the reported offer, was understood to have said: "Either all will be reopened or all will remain closed. There is only one person who can order disbandment of the Azione Cattolica, or its branches. That person is the pope."

"If others order it then it is a violation of a pact which has been solemnly agreed to."

The last reference was apparently to the Lateran accord under which the sovereignty of the pope was agreed to by the Italian government, and to the concordant enforcing the accord, which gave him certain powers.

In the government quarters, it was affirmed that efforts were continuing looking to a solution to the controversy which has aroused rancor on both sides. There was a possibility that a statement would be issued today clarifying the Fascist position on the situation as it now stands.

COURT GRANTS DIVORCE PLEA OF E. D. BURGE

An interlocutory decree of divorce was granted yesterday afternoon by Judge James L. Allen to Edwin D. Burge from Dorothy Bell Burge, after a default hearing in which the defendant did not appear.

The action was based on a charge of desertion. Burge formerly was owner of large orange and other realty holdings in the county and had a large home and a 20 acre ranch on East First street. He started construction of a large pleasure craft, "The Valencia" at Newport Beach, which he planned to use for cruises to Mexican waters, but lost the ship on foreclosure proceedings before it was completed. A previous divorce suit involving the principals in this action was dropped about a year ago. The Burges were married in 1927 and separated in 1929.

Five other divorces and two annulments were granted in superior court yesterday afternoon after default hearings.

Judge H. G. Ames granted both annulments. They were to Charlotte Whitney from Deo W. Whitley and to Don W. Moyle from Mabel F. Moyle.

Interlocutory divorces were granted by Judge Allen to Gladys B. Jenkins from Richard E. Jenkins on charges of habitual intemperance; to Bernice Hayes from Harry E. Hayes on grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment; and to Mamie E. Bonham from Leland S. Bonham on a charge of desertion.

Judge Ames granted interlocutory decrees to Eva C. Sheldon from Charles H. Sheldon and to Oniska H. Orndorff from Cecil B. Orndorff, the first on charges of wilful desertion, wilful neglect and extreme cruelty, and the latter on a charge of desertion.

One of the largest crowds of the entire 11 days of the show is expected to attend today. This day has been dedicated to Central American countries of Costa Rica and Honduras, with the Hon. C. E. Oberly and Dr. Arturo Palacios, consuls of the southern countries, as principal speakers. Adnan Hartog of the Netherlands will also be an honored guest and will deliver a short address.

Exceeding even the expectations of fair directors who listed 25 varieties of avocado in the premium books the sub-tropical fruit display is attracting the attention of every fair visitor and proving a difficult task for the judges.

Winners of the Orange County Valencia Orange Show and Fair music composition contest were announced today by Mrs. Kate E. McCullah, chairman of the contest committee.

Five awards will be made, the board of judges selecting the best compositions of piano solos and songs in four divisions. The judges were M. L. Swarthout, C. E. Pemberton and Mabel Woodworth, all sponsored by the University of Southern California.

Louis Danz, Anaheim, with a piano solo composition, was awarded first prize in Classification I.

Two prizes will be awarded in Classification II, consisting of contestants above 18 years of age who have not previously won a senior award. Ruby Berkley Goodwin of Fullerton is the composer of the prize-winning song, with piano accompaniment, Margaret Cook, also of Fullerton, entered the winning piano selection.

Classifications III and IV included students up to 10 years of age, the latter being open only to those students who had not previously won an award in the orange show contest.

Katherine Anna McCullah, Anaheim, presented the prize-winning piano composition in Division III, and Bobbie Jerome of Placentia was the piano solo award in the inexperienced students division.

Awards will be presented next Thursday evening at the Elks clubhouse in Anaheim. Mrs. McCullah declared.

Last night patrons of the Orange Show watched the first relay in the national orange packing championship race which was won by Elsie Glenn and Cora Showalter, representing the Bradford Brothers packing house at Placentia. Ona Hunt and Arnold Bollin of the Anaheim Citrus Fruits association finished in second place.

I. T. Jones finished third among the individuals, but his partner required a longer time, putting the team representing the Whittier Orange and Lemon association in third place.

Fourth place went to Peggy Hendricks and Carrie Murphy of the Fullerton Mutual.

Time does not necessarily indicate the final championship as neatness and correctness of pack is rated heavily in the point scored.

PANTAGES CASE TO BE RESUMED AGAIN MONDAY

member of the party group, and the two persons were charged with bringing the girl here from Hollywood — William Jobelmann, and Mrs. Olive Clark Day.

The Los Angeles case in which Pantages was charged with attacking Eunice Pringle, a 17-year-old dancer, was brought up when Jerry Geisler, Pantages' counsel, pointed out that Pantages had been granted a new trial on the Pringle conviction because the defense was not allowed to take up the past of the Pringle girl.

As a result, Geisler was permitted to delve into Miss Nitto's mode of living. Under his questioning, Miss Nitto admitted that she had signed an affidavit in June, 1930, that she was 23 years old so that she could work as a taxi dancer. She admitted also that four weeks of this employment was all the work she had done in the last year.

She had first told Los Angeles investigators that Pantages did nothing improper at the party. She changed her story after being confined in the Los Angeles juvenile home.

She was taken from the juvenile home and placed in a hotel, given automobile rides, free meals and cigarettes after changing her story. She had once been intoxicated, despite her previous testimony that she did not drink.

Defense attorneys pointed out to the court that the Los Angeles district attorney's office, in furnishing Miss Nitto with cigarettes, was guilty of the same charges faced by Pantages, contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Despite her nervousness during the morning session yesterday, Miss Nitto held up well under the strenuous cross examination in the afternoon, smiling as she answered a number of the questions asked by Geisler.

Cross examination of the girl will be continued when the trial begins its third week Monday.

'FRUIT OF THE SPIRIT' TOPIC OF EVANGELIST

Last night John Brown, conducting a series of evangelical meetings in Anaheim, spoke before a crowd that packed the tabernacle. Choosing as his sermon theme the quotation: "The fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness and temperance." Gal. 5: 22, 23, he stressed the fact that "the fruit of the spirit is long-suffering."

Tonight the evangelist will deliver his sermon on the theme "Involving" and will feature a children's choir of 250 voices during the services. "Heavenly Vision" has been selected as the topic for his Sunday morning talk and at night he will lecture on "Weighing the City."

Brown started his sermon last night with reference to the sad experiences in the Garden of Gethsemane when the mob came and Jesus, unperturbed, questioned them "Whom seek ye?" When they replied "Jesus of Nazareth," he replied "I am he."

He took his listeners through the experience of Judas' traitorous kiss upon the tear-stained cheek of Jesus; Peter's first blow with a sword for the Christ he loved and the Saviour's command to "put up thy sword into the sheath." They were led through the mock trial and rushed judgment and along the tortuous march to Calvary and the Crucifixion with the crowd laughing and challenging "He saved others, himself he cannot save."

Referring to this Brown said in part: "He could step down from the cross, or He could call down a regiment of angels from the skies, and these demon-possessed men and women at one sweep of the angel wing could be swept into hell's nethermost pit, but He did not get down and He did not call down the angels."

"And why?"

"To save Himself meant that others He could not save, and He had come into this world to give Himself a ransom for many." To refuse to save Himself meant that others He could save and for that very purpose He had journeyed all the weary way to Calvary."

Down through the ages he recalled the martyrs who, through their long-suffering, have proven blessings to the world and declared: "If ever we get a glimpse into heaven from this sinful earth, it will be while we are on our knees praying for those who have actually done us deepest injury or wrong."

Stressing the fact that a "temper" is not a thing to be won but something to control for great benefit, he said.

"It isn't the possession of that something called temper that becomes the curse, but the curse is found in the fact that a lot of people allow that something called temper to possess them."

"There are men and women who have no temper, who turn the other cheek before the first check is slapped. Such people haven't manhood or womanhood enough to offend, but are like waxed figures, manipulated by public opinion, and like sheep, are ready to run at whatever shadow may fall across their path."

"Men and women of great temper must let the Spirit of God keep His hand upon the rattle and His eye upon the rail. It is the work of the Spirit of God to take these tempers of ours and put them in the furnace of fire, the furnace heated to a white heat, and there burn and turn and blend and mend and temper and mould until these tempers shall come out rightly tempered and when that time comes these men and women are ready for the largest possible service."

Drawing parallels and illustrations from life Brown declared to his audience that "getting even" merely for the sake of evening a personal score or affront is not temper well directed for the great temper of mankind but is a degrading experience that tends to disintegrate the soul and destroy spiritual values.

In closing he said:

"The Holy Spirit will help us to suffer long and be kind, and will guide and guard these hearts of ours, that no hatred or malice or un forgiveness shall enter there. Only as the Spirit of God comes to possess us, can we say, 'Being reviled, we bless; being persecuted, we suffer; being defamed, we entreat.'"

"The fruit of the Spirit is long-suffering."

REPORT SAYS MUSSOLINI MADE OFFER

In the negotiations, inasmuch as the closure of the Catholic clubs and institutions throughout Italy already is an accomplished fact which the Vatican now will have to seek to alter.

An official statement printed by Osservatore today said:

"Today is the second anniversary of the ratification of the Lateran pact. Catholics in Italy and the whole world, who even in the midst of sad trials recall the enthusiasm that great event raised, will not fail to pray to God so that he who desires only good, and permits evil only for God's sake, may, despite what seems to impede and delay, ensure materialization of these benefits which both church and Italy expected and will expect from those conventions."

DEATHS

A WORD OF COMFORT

Look back to your childhood years and recall the hopes and dreams which lured and inspired you. They now look like puny and tawdry things compared with what you have found in life. What you wanted then would not satisfy you now. At the same time, the best you could see brought you to what you have attained.

Translate that experience into terms of the future and realize that your endeavor to fit your self day by day for the joys of reunion with your dear one in Paradise is to lead you into an happiness and a peace beyond your highest imagination.

Tomorrow is sure but it will surpass your dearest hopes.

BANQUET HELD AT CHURCH ON 50TH BIRTHDAY

The banquet hall in the educational unit of the First Christian church was filled to capacity last night as members of the church and its friends gathered to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the church in Santa Ana.

The room was decorated in a gold color scheme and a large white and gold birthday cake with 50 candles was featured on the stage of the hall as the jubilee program of the church was inaugurated. Special services with addresses from former pastors of the church have been arranged for both worship hours tomorrow.

Particular honor was paid to Mrs. F. M. Gist at the dinner last night. Mrs. Gist is the only living member of the church who was a member of the group which met on June 5, 1881, and started the Christian church in Santa Ana. She was presented with a huge bouquet by Mrs. Walter S. Buchanan on behalf of the membership, and responded with a few remarks in which she commented on her work in the church for two generations. "Yesterday is a dream, tomorrow a vision," she concluded, "and today well lived makes every yesterday a pleasant memory and each tomorrow a great hope."

A number of pioneer citizens of the community were also special guests at the dinner last night. They were Mrs. Lottie Grouard, Mrs. G. J. Mosbaugh, Mrs. John McFadden, Mrs. Frances Dresser, Mrs. E. S. Wakeham, Mrs. R. J. Blee, Mrs. Jennie Spurgeon, Mrs. Carrie W. Flagg and Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Stafford.

An official welcome was extended to the special guests and to all who were participating in the celebration of the attainment of 50 years of service to the community by T. D. Knights, chairman of the official board, who in brief remarks declared that the accomplishments of the past were a challenge to a greater future.

W. B. Williams, president of the Farmers and Merchants Savings bank and cashier of the First National bank, was toastmaster for the occasion.

Greetings and congratulations from the Santa Ana Ministerial association were brought by Dr. Cecil M. Aker, pastor of the Spurgeon Memorial M. E. church, South, who asserted in his remarks that churches were coming closer together, uniting in magnifying their points of agreement, rather than their points of difference.

"All churches of the community rejoice with you on this 50th anniversary and wish you God speed. Your success helps all the rest of the churches."

The response was made by the Rev. Walter S. Buchanan, church pastor, who also paid tribute to the work of Mrs. Gist. He called upon the members of the church and its friends to start into the second 50 years of service with a sincere determination to present the Christ to those outside the church by teaching and example.

The address of the evening was made by Attorney Horace Head, who told of the history of the church in which he has had a part since boyhood. He said in part:

"On June 5, 1881, there was a meeting of Christian people in Santa Ana, forming an organization. That organization has met regularly and never a Sunday has passed since then when the Christian people have not held services and partaken of communion, except a few weeks during an epidemic when public services were forbidden. I have been informed by three pioneers who are with us this evening that Christian people held meetings prior to the organization of the church, joining with Baptists and Southern Methodists in the use of a small building used for religious services."

"I have here a book that contains the records of the church during its first 25 years of existence. The first meeting in Orange county that we can find record of was held in Orange in the schoolhouse on January 30, 1876, to which all holders of our faith from Santa Ana, Tustin and Orange were invited. George Mosbaugh was one of this group and he was elected clerk. J. W. Anderson was chairman. Services were held regularly for awhile according to the records."

"The organization meeting in Santa Ana was held in Latimer's hall, at the corner of Fourth and Bush streets where the Commercial National bank now stands. It was a small storeroom with a few chairs and benches with no backs. When these quarters were outgrown we moved to the Good Templar's hall, the upstairs of a building erected by W. H. Spurgeon, the founder of Santa Ana. This was at Fifth and Sycamore, where the library now stands. The fire department had its quarters in the first floor."

"The Good Templars was a temperance organization which was organized in Santa Ana in a tent meeting held on the site where the courthouse is now situated. The hall was more spacious and had a carpet and chairs."

"We met there until 1887, when Brother T. D. Garvin, our minister, who had come from Orange where he had built a church, started a campaign and the first church was built. It was located on the corner where we are meeting tonight and we later acquired the property east to Broadway."

"The present church was built in 1899 when the Rev. A. F. Roadhouse was pastor. We incorporated the original structure in the new one, and it is still serving today. The church was dedicated May 1, have affected the First National's 45-year guardianship of its stability

BANKING Methods undergo changes, adjustments, and become modernized, but there's one old-fashioned custom that has imbedded itself deeper and deeper into the First National's policies during these 45 years without any sign of changing its dress—the custom of guarding its STABILITY above everything else.

Outside alliances have caused undesirable fluctuations in the stability of nations, firms and even individuals! We haven't anything like that in the First National Bank—we are perfectly satisfied to rest our fortunes upon those of our community alone.

Our 45th Anniversary finds us at the peak of strength and stability—at a time when people are glad of such an institution to cast their lot with.

First National Bank of Santa Ana

1910. The Community house, just to the west of the church, was built in 1917 to care for Sunday school and social work, and was dedicated February 28, 1918. In June of that year the organ given by Mrs. R. T. Harris was dedicated. This fine building in which we meet tonight was dedicated on October 5, 1920.

"Our church has served the community in many ways and its ministers have been leaders in the community. They are a credit to the church and the congregation. We have a right to be proud of our record, for we have done a full share in building the cause of Christ in Santa Ana."

In addition to the pioneer guests, other special guests at the dinner were the Rev. and Mrs. A. F. Roadhouse, of San Marino, former leaders in the work here; the Rev. Arthur Ritchey, state evangelist of the denomination and former member of the Santa Ana church; and Miss Myrtle Stipp, missionary from the Santa Ana church.

During the evening a letter of congratulations and regrets that he was unable to be present from the Rev. Lloyd Darlie, of Pine Knot, pastor of the church just prior to the World war, was read. The birthday cake was cut by Madames Flora Smith, Hattie Hagthorn, Alice Thompson and C. E. Price, who were little girls during the early history of the church in Santa Ana.

Music for the occasion was furnished by the seven-piece orchestra of the Men's Community Bible class and the church choir under the direction of H. P. Filer.

Out-of-town guests at the dinner were:

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Lucas and Arthur Ritchey, of Glendale; Mr. and Mrs. George W. Allison and Mrs. William Haller, of Tustin; Mrs. Isabel B. Greer, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Gaines and Florence Zimmerman Douglas, of Long Beach; Mr. and Mrs. George A. Phelps, of Laguna Beach; Margaret Head Cox and Ina D. Wilson, of Pasadena; Myrtle W. Stipp, Frances M. Griffith and Maud Loper, of Los Angeles; the Rev. A. F. Roadhouse and D. R. Roadhouse, of San Marino; Russell E. Damon, of Redlands; Billy Grube and Ona Grube, of Phoenix, Ariz.; Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Ditchey and Mrs. J. A. Holden, of Riverside.

The celebration will continue with special services at both worship hours tomorrow, when former pastors will occupy the pulpit.

BOY DIES AFTER TRUCK ACCIDENT

Running beneath a truck driven by Fred Mathieson, 825 North Spadina road, Fullerton, Raymond Moreno, 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ramon Moreno, of 143 West Walnut avenue was almost instantly killed yesterday afternoon shortly after 4 p. m. while playing in the street in front of his home.

According to a report of the accident made by Mathieson, who was driving his truck east on Walnut avenue, the small boy ran out from behind a retaining wall at the side of the road, running into the truck behind the front wheel. The rear wheels of the truck crushed the boy's head, causing his death.

The Mathieson and Suters ambulance answered an emergency call but the boy was dead when the ambulance arrived. The body is at the Mathieson and Suters parlors awaiting funeral arrangements.

In addition to his father, the boy is survived by several smaller brothers and sisters.

At an inquest held after the accident the driver of the truck was exonerated. Funeral services will be held Monday at 9 a. m. from the home with McAulay and Suters in charge. Interment will be in Fairhaven cemetery.

McCardia Denies Guilt On Charge Of Petty Theft

William J. McCardia, former candidate for sheriff, arrested yesterday by Undersheriff Riggles when he is asserted to have torn up a floor in his home, from which, through attachment, he had been ousted, was charged with petty theft when he was booked at the county jail late yesterday.

He was taken to Huntington Beach to Judge Chris Pann's court today, where he pleaded not guilty and time for the hearing was set for next Saturday at 9 a. m. McCardia was released on his own recognizance.

Mexicans Held As Liquor Is Found

Four Mexicans were arrested last night in a series of liquor raids staged in Placentia by local police there and Fred Humiston, deputy sheriff. A small amount of beer was said to have been found in the homes of the men.

Those arrested were Severino Rios, 38; Caspar Sanchez, 42; Juan Rios, 30, and Alfonso Murrillo, 28. All were brought to the county jail where they were booked on charges of possession of liquor.

CHURCH CELEBRATES GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Pictures of the First Christian church, which is celebrating its semi-centennial of service to the community this week, are shown below. At top is the present church edifice, located at Sixth and Broadway, which was built in 1909. Below it to the left is shown the first building, which was constructed in 1887 on the northeast corner of Sixth and Birch streets. Immediately below that is the new educational unit, located on the same spot, which was the scene of the jubilee dinner last night, and which was dedicated last fall. At the right is the picture of the Rev. Walter S. Buchanan, present pastor of the church, who began his service to the congregation and the community in 1928.

ANNIVERSARY OF CHURCH TO BE OBSERVED

The program for the special service at the First Christian church tomorrow in celebration of the church's Golden Anniversary includes addresses by two former pastors and a sacred concert by the church choir.

He will preach on the subject, "The Supreme Revelation." A jubilee offering will also be a part of the morning service and will be directed by M. D. Haskell.

At the evening service the sermon will be preached by the Rev. F. T. Porter, of Los Angeles, pastor from 1915-1928 and now secretary of the work of the denomination in Southern California. The sacred concert will be given at the evening service, which commences at 7:30 o'clock. This program is as follows:

FARM CENTERS TO SEE COUNTY FLOOD PHOTOS

The first showing of 35 slides depicting floods in Orange county and the various sites of the proposed dams and water storage basins in the Orange county flood control plan will be made to members and friends of the Anaheim Farm center when they meet in the auditorium of the Anaheim high school Tuesday night. It was announced today by Roland D. Flaherty, secretary of the farm bureau.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the farm bureau held yesterday morning in the courthouse annex, the water committee was authorized to have the slides prepared so that every farm center in the county might see them and so that a lecturer can more easily disseminate information on the flood control project. This is the first step taken by the farm bureau in bringing the information before the farmers in the county in an unified manner.

During the meeting the question of whether or not the farm bureau make discount services available to its members was discussed. It was declared that due to the depression prevalent over the United States many farm bureaus have made contracts with large oil companies to obtain gasoline and oil for the farmers at a discount. This is being considered by the local farm bureau at the present time.

Definite feeling was expressed that the farm bureau is not a commercial organization and should not engage in business. The history of farm organizations during the last 75 years has proved that engaging in business transactions has been one of the chief causes of the downfall of the organizations, Flaherty declared. The primary reason for this is the fact that if such an organization takes up enterprises and the directors of the organization take over the agencies and salaries in the execution of the business, the organization becomes a trade concern.

In an effort to avoid such a situation the ways and means committees recommended to the board of directors that no person would be eligible to hold office in the farm bureau or sit on the board of directors who is engaged as an agent receiving a salary or commission from any commercial activity endorsed or sponsored by the farm bureau. No definite action was taken on the matter but it was favorably received by the directors. Action probably will be taken at the next directors' meeting.

GREAT BRITAIN'S OUTLAY ON LIQUOR IS FIFTY PER CENT LARGER THAN RAIL RECEIPTS

By S. S. McCLURE

It should be stated that the report of the Medical Research Council is not a prohibition document. Nor does it advocate total abstinence from liquor. The economic aspects of drink are dealt with in the following extract from the report of the Medical Research Council:

"The part played by alcohol in social, industrial and economic life is so considerable that knowledge of its action on the human body might reasonably have been expected to be full and precise. The total amount of money devoted to the purchase of alcohol by the inhabitants of these islands is nearly 50 per cent greater than the traffic receipts of the whole railway system, including both goods and passengers; it is more than double the expenditure on bread, and more than equal to the expenditure on meat; before the war it was approximately equal to the total revenue of the state and was more than eight times the total amount required for interest on the national debt. Apart from the economic aspect, it is admitted by all parties that the misuse of alcohol exercises a considerable influence on health and longevity, and it is contended by one large section of opinion that it is a main cause of crime and poverty. The ill effect on individual and national efficiency of excessive indulgence in alcohol is not disputed."

Comparison of Expenditures.
The following table of other national expenditures in Great Britain compared with the drink bill gives a further idea of the magnitude of the drainage on national resources besides the inevitable loss of man-power involved:

Drink bill 1923.....	£307,500,000
Interest on national debt.....	307,000,000
Gross annual value of lands, houses and other property under schedule A.....	287,000,000
Capital invested in coal industry, 1921 (excluding coke ovens and by-product plants).....	180,000,000
Rates collected, 1923-4.....	162,000,000
Estimated expenditure on imperial defense.....	132,000,000
Education.....	89,000,000
National health, and unemployment insurance.....	79,000,000
War pensions.....	75,000,000
Relief of poor.....	45,000,000
Old age pensions.....	24,000,000

More than a year ago Lord Leverhulme, probably the foremost business man of England, after studying the effect of prohibition in the United States, said that if England would adopt prohibition it would thereby save enough in five years to pay its indebtedness to the United States.

Social Aspects.
(By Sir Arthur Newsholme, D.C.B., M. D., F. R. C. P.)
"The consumption of beer last year in Great Britain was 350 million gallons, as compared with a consumption of 800 millions of gallons of milk, which is equal to about two-fifths of a pint of milk daily for each unit of the population."
"The amount spent on drink in 1930 was equal to the total interest on the national debt; it was more than the aggregate amount spent on imperial defense, education and national health, including unemployment insurance. The amount spent on drink, to take another illustration, would have paid the rental of every home, farm, shop, factory and estate in Great Britain."

Drink Bill.
The world's drink bill today approximates $20,000,000,000 annually. Most of that is expended by the people of the very countries of Europe which are now struggling under the burden of national indebtedness.

Liquor cost Great Britain during the past 25 years as much as the World War cost her.

(Next week: Conclusions as to the use of alcohol. The week following, "Does Prohibition Prohibit?")

GUARD UNIT TO USE RANGE FOR GUN PRACTICE

A detachment from Company "L," 18th Infantry, Santa Ana's National guard unit, left Santa Ana at 2:30 p. m. today for bivouac at the state rifle range at Corona, where it will be joined tomorrow morning by another detachment of the men who are unable to make the trip this evening.

All men will start firing on the range tomorrow at an early hour as it is the intention of the company commander, Capt. C. J. Cain, to have as many of the men as possible qualified in rifle marksmanship before the annual encampment at San Luis Obispo the last two weeks in August, and as this is the last chance which Company "L" will have to use the range before encampment, it is expected that most of the men will be on hand. All men who have not qualified at some time previous are required to be present by regimental orders.

Considerable time and money have been spent by the state in putting the range in tip-top shape and at the present time it is considered one of the best ranges in this part of the state.

The company has been drilled in the rudiments of marksmanship and musketry at the last few regular weekly drills and most of the company is now ready to qualify. It is considered quite certain that Company "L" will encamp for the encampment 100 per cent and all set and primed to bring back an "Exceptional Merit" rating when it returns.

WARNS OF LATE TOMATO BLIGHT IN THIS AREA

The dreaded tomato late blight has made its appearance in Orange county in the last 10 days and threatens serious damage unless it is controlled at once, according to a report from the office of the county agricultural commissioner today.

J. Lee Hewitt, plant disease man for the commissioner's office, reported that the true late blight has appeared at three places in the Santa Ana river valley and at one place on the mesa near Costa Mesa during the recent series of rainy and foggy days. Prior to this time only the early blight, which is less injurious, has been prevalent. Hewitt advised that all tomatoes be sprayed at once with Bordeaux mixture, at the standard strength of four pounds of blue-stone and six pounds of hydrated lime to make 50 gallons of spray.

"While spraying for blight at this season is unusual, this year it is necessary in order to save the early crop, to spray in all those neighborhoods where blight has appeared," he said. "It is highly advisable to spray all tomato acreage in the county. It is also highly advisable that when late shipping tomatoes are planted this year they should be sprayed thoroughly with Bordeaux mixture before they have begun to branch. This spraying should be done regardless of weather. In addition to this more spraying should be done as soon as foggy or rainy weather comes in the fall."

Detailed directions for making the spray may be had from the office of the county agricultural commissioner, room 211, court house annex, Santa Ana.

Graduation Present!

Start a Savings
Account for Him

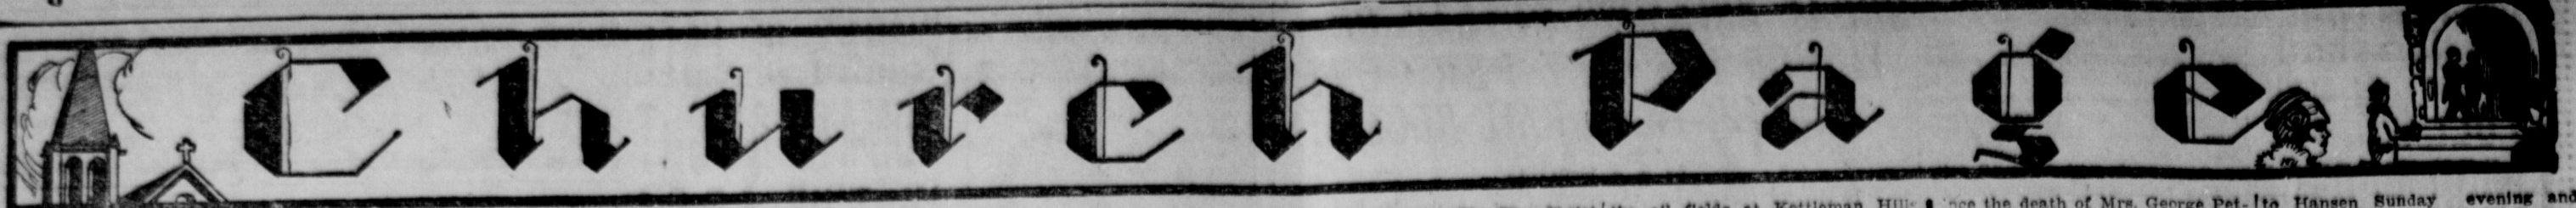

It is to Santa Ana's advantage, as well as to your boy's, to teach him the advantages of a Savings Account. Boys, as a rule, are inordinately proud of a bank account and will add to it regularly if they have the opportunity and are given an incentive.

It is the finest habit you can cultivate. It may affect the entire order of his existence as a man. It can teach him preparedness, economy, and place him in a position to take advantage of his best opportunities to prosper.

Start him out with a small account as a graduation present!—make it possible for him to add to it REGULARLY.

COME TO CHURCH

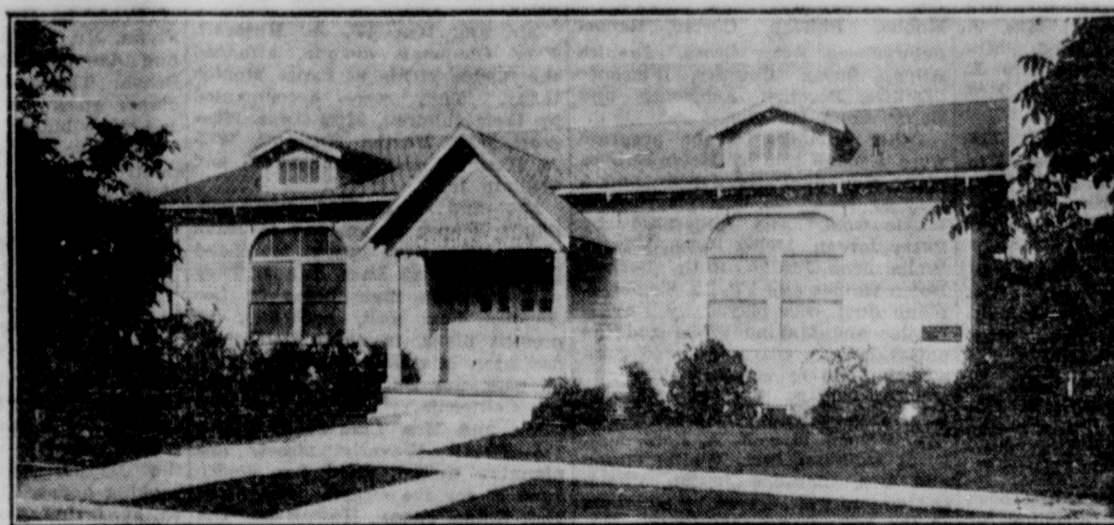

The Church is the meeting place of God and His people

A SERMONETTE

BY REV. C. F. MARTIN

Pastor Orange Avenue Christian Church, Orange Avenue and McFadden Street

"A Chance for Every Man"

Orange Avenue Christian Church, Orange Avenue and McFadden Street

A CHANCE FOR EVERY MAN

Text, Mark 10: 21.

"And Jesus looking upon him, loved him, and said unto him, One thing thou lackest: go, sell whatsoever thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come, and follow me."

Two noted characters are here standing face to face. Two young men. The one, by his dress, conveyed the thought of riches, luxury, ease. He carried in his face unmistakable marks of good breeding, culture and clean living—no-ble marks for a young man.

The other young man was great and strong—a man of the open air; a face full of strength, with lines in it that men love to see in the face of a man that they would follow—the face of a man that had a heart full of love, a face that said "Peace on earth and good will to men." This man was born a leader and he could rightfully say, "To this end came I forth."

He was offering to men great opportunities, and among the men that were waiting on his ministry was a rich young man. This young man had a history of which he was proud. He had been brought up in a rich Jewish home. He had been trained in the history of the old prophets. He had lived a clean, pure life, but there was a longing, a desire, a something that he craved that the splendid teaching and history of his people could not give. It seems that his ambition was this: He would be a man on whose character no man could find a spot, a man who could look up to God and say, "I am righteous"; a man that could look the world in the face and say, "I am clean." But, like many other men, he felt that he had something else to attain that he had not reached. And all men of vision and great ambitions feel the same way.

This young man had heard of a new wonderful teacher that was stirring the hearts of the people. He followed the multitudes and came into the presence of Jesus. He heard this new teacher and, listening to the wonderful voice telling of life, of our Father in heaven, of the pure hearted, he saw the crowd part and mothers bringing their little ones to the Master that He might bless them, and, as men were opposing them, he saw the eyes flash and he heard that voice that cried out, "Suffer the little children to come unto me, and forbid them not."

A man is no larger than his heart and this young man must have thought, "A man that can love little children must have a great heart and mind. Here is the teacher that I want to consult."

So he came to Jesus and said, "Good Master, what shall I do that I may inherit eternal life?" Here was and is a great question—a question that hundreds of persons are asking every day. Jesus treated this young man as a man.

I like that about Jesus. He treats us as if we were capable of thinking and acting for ourselves in deciding great questions. Hence He gives us great questions to think about.

You will note that he turns his attention to the young man and as he listens to the appeal of the young man he makes a great offer. There is one word in the text that gives color to this lesson that we must not forget. "Jesus looked upon him and loved him." Jesus can't look upon any person without loving them. The first thing that Jesus offered this young man was a strange thing. He offered him a cross. He said to the young man: It is true you lack one thing, but I will tell you how you can get it. And he laid on him that hard load of self-renunciation.

Then again—He offered him a career. "Come sell what you have and give to the poor," and "Come and follow me." The pathway clear—no mistake about it. Jesus was making his life's work clear to him. Now will he heed? He has been called to service—no doubt about his duty. There is but one life to live and how sad to live it wrong.

There was something else that Jesus offered this young man. He offered him character. He said: "If thou wilt be perfect, root out the ignoble things, the things unworthy a man." How glad I am that Jesus offered a character instead of heaven. He wants men to develop true manhood, live lives of service, now, here on earth. Today.

Asks Damages for Injuries Caused By Falling Sign

Alleging that through the negligence of defendants a large sign suspended over the sidewalk on Main street, Huntington Beach, became loosened and fell upon her as she was passing, Birdie Glenn filed suit in superior court yesterday demanding damages of $50,000, doctors' fees amounting to an additional $100 from Elise Armitage, owner of the building from which the sign was suspended.

The complainant alleges that when the sign struck her she received a fractured skull and other serious injuries that are permanent and interfere with her duties as housewife. The suit was filed by L. W. Blodgett.

The Institute will be held in the auditorium just outside the north entrance to the show grounds and is free to the public. The avocado program arranged by the avocado department of the Orange County Farm Bureau and the agricultural extension service will include many interesting subjects by authoritative speakers, according to Farm Adviser Harold E. Wahlberg.

Important phases of orchard care will be discussed, including irrigation, pest control, what varieties to plant, and other subjects.

Will Review Early History

The early history of the avocado industry will be reviewed by pioneer growers, B. H. Sharpless and William McPherson, who will discuss C. P. Taft and his early contribution to the industry. Mr. Taft is one of the early horticulturists of Southern California, who has given several new varieties to the subtropical world. Mr. Taft will be present in person.

The avocado department is also sponsoring an exhibit at the orange show featuring many varieties of avocados and subtropical fruits. The exhibit was installed by B. H. Sharpless of Tustin, chairman of the design committee. Carl Nichols of Garden Grove is in charge of the educational feature of the exhibit, embracing propagation, diseases, pests, and packing avocados. Other members of the educational committee are N. S. Kelsey, Tustin, and William McPherson, Orange.

Ray Frantz, La Habra, was chairman of the committee collecting exhibits for the exhibit. The collection committee included Ray Frantz, chairman; Russell Cook, San Juan Capistrano; A. R. Marshall, Yorba Linda; S. V. McPherson, El Modena; Lester Schofield, Buena Park; Charles Knowlton, Fullerton; and A. A. Schnitzer, Garden Grove.

Program June 9

The avocado program in final form is released from the farm adviser's office as follows:

10 a. m.—Care of the Avocado Orchard, W. L. McCulloch, horticulturist; What Varieties Shall We Plant? C. V. Newman, manager, an Joaquin Fruit company; C. P. Taft, His Early Contribution to the Avocado Industry, William McPherson, pioneer grower; B. H. Sharpless, pioneer grower.

1:00 p. m.—Future Outlook of the Avocado Industry, T. U. Barber, horticulturist; The Avocado Grower and the Farm Bureau, Roy K. Cole, director, California Farm Bureau Federation; Pest Control, a growing Problem of the Industry, R. McLean, agricultural commissioner, San Diego.

INSECTS' BILL

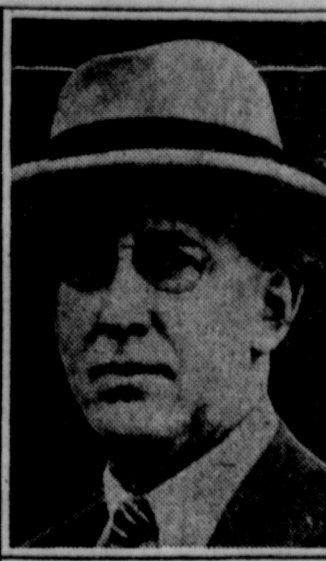

J. A. Hyslop, chief of the insect survey of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, estimates that about 6000 species of insects destroy $2,000,000,000 worth of property in America each year.

COUNTY RABBIT BREEDERS WILL PICNIC SUNDAY

Rabbit breeders from all sections of Orange county will gather tomorrow at Irvine park for an all day picnic and table show. This meeting is being held under the sponsorship of the Orange County Rabbit Breeders' association and is expected to attract scores of breeders who will display some of the finest stock that has ever been shown in this district.

Under the present plans the table show will be open to breeders from all sections of the state. Proper housing for all entries will be provided and judging will be by licensed judges of the American Rabbit and Cavy Breeders' association with official ribbons being awarded to winners in the respective classes.

As an educational feature a group of well known butchers will demonstrate the proper grading of meat rabbits and their relation to the commercial end of the rabbit industry.

A barbecue lunch will be served at noon with more than 50 rabbits, provided by members of the association, forming the principal dish. All breeders and persons interested in the raising of rabbits have been invited to attend this picnic-meeting with the assurance that a reception committee will be on hand to greet all strangers.

BEACH SECTION HELD POSSIBLE FRUIT CENTER

NEWPORT BEACH, June 4.—H. Cordova Sloan prominent citizen of Corona del Mar section of Newport Beach, thinks the possibilities of avocado culture at Corona del Mar is worth the serious thought of land owners. Mr. Sloan has had experience in fruit growing from Florida to California. His beautiful home overlooking the ocean at Corona del Mar coast line is one of the show places of the coast. In the rear of his real estate office on the San Diego highway he has a quaint garden.

It is in the highway garden that he has experimented in a small way with avocado growing. He has a Puerto seedling tree four years old that is bearing its first crop this year. Planted in October, 1927, the tree is 15 feet high and eight feet thick and has a crop of avocados that is remarkable. On one small limb a count showed 21 avocados and stems showed where as many more had dropped off. The fruit is only three weeks old, but large as pheasant eggs and growing fine.

Three Other Trees

Mr. Sloan has three other young avocado trees in the yard, all doing nicely. He says the soil is well adapted to this fruit and the fact that the heaviest crop is set on the ocean side of the tree, shows the ocean breezes at Corona del Mar are not harmful.

There is a large acreage and many blocks of town lots at Corona del Mar where soil conditions are very fine. The acreage is on the Irvine ranch. When abundant water is obtained, Mr. Sloan advocates a more extended experiment with avocado growing, one of the most profitable crops produced in the world.

Mr. Sloan has given free rein to his love for the cultivation of flowers and shrubbery and a lawn of Korean grass, quaint soft velvet grass, wonderful in color and texture, thrives luxuriantly. From the veranda, over the bay one looks out on the harbor entrance and across the bay entrance where palaces of millionaires are being built on the sand. Sloan's home is built on the rocks across the bay.

Gorgeous Homes

The palaces on the sand at the lower end of the peninsula are gorgeous and luxurious. Perhaps the most pretentious is the new $65,000 home being built by Lewis of the Diamond Bar ranch. It stands on a site of three lots which cost $100,000. Nearby is the King C. Gillette home, and up the bay a short distance is the home of the razor king's son, King G. Gillette. Between are the magnificent homes of Chester Brown, Frick, Cass, Alphonse Bell, Harry Brauer and others.

Mildew and Blight Proof Lettuce For Monterey County

SALINAS, Calif., June 6.—A new strain of lettuce resistant to both mildew and brown blight has been developed on a lettuce variety demonstration plot in Monterey county.

According to an announcement made here, seed of the new strain will be available for planting this fall.

AGRICULTURAL AMBASSADORS

Among Uncle Sam's agriculturalists is William J. Morse, soybean specialist, examining some "miso," a soybean product he brought from China. Inset is Asher Hobson, in charge of the Foreign Division of the United States Department of Agriculture. Below, left to right, are E. A. Foley, in charge of the London office; C. C. Aires, and Edward G. Paxton, of Sydney, Australia.

Foreign Lands Combed By Representatives For Farm Information

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 6.—Scattered throughout the world are Uncle Sam's ambassadors of agriculture, serving American farmers, as representatives of the U. S. department of agriculture's foreign agricultural service.

Since June, 1920, when this foreign service of the department was broadened by an act of congress, official representatives have been set up in permanent offices at Sydney, Australia; Buenos Aires, Argentina; Berlin, Pretoria, South Africa; Belgrade, Yugoslavia; London; Shanghai, and Marseilles.

The men at these stations oversee the gathering of information on foreign markets, demand and supply, export and import taxes, probable production figures of different farm commodities, beneficial farm practices carried on in these countries, and direct to the United States commodity specialists stationed in countries within their territory.

These commodity specialists are located at Kobe, Japan; Cairo, Egypt; Havre, London and Berlin. In addition, the U. S. department of agriculture sends direct from the United States several plant scientists who comb the interiors of Europe, Asia, South Africa and other continents for plants which will prove of value to American farmers.

An illustration of the latter instance is the recent return of William J. Morse, soybean specialist of the U. S. department of agriculture, from a two-year search of soybean varieties in Japan, Korea and Manchuria. He brought back 200 samples of manufactured soybean products and 4000 lots of soybean seed.

CACTUS SMUGGLER NEW LAW VIOLATOR

SACRAMENTO, June 6.—The cactus craze, latest fad of the amateur gardener, today had added a new type of smuggler to the legion attempting illegal traffic across international lines.

Demand for cacti, found in southwestern states and Northern Mexico in desert areas in infinite abundance and variety, is keen. And so it was that Paul Hahn, Jr., of San Diego county was arrested by John Allstaetter, federal plant quarantine and control administration inspector after he had crossed the Mexican line into California without submitting a truckload of cacti plants to quarantine inspection. Hahn was fined $200 by a U. S. court in San Diego, and failing to pay it, remanded to the Los Angeles county jail. He was allowed a 30 days stay of execution by the court.

Importation of cactus is permitted, but is subject to inspection, according to the State Department of Agriculture. Danger to various California crops would result from unsupervised importations, according to the Department, because of insect infestation or because of various diseases to which this desert plant is subject.

RUSSIA'S COTTON

Russia produced 1,351,000 bales of cotton in 1929, and 1,950,000 bales in 1930.

ONE BING TREE PRODUCES MILE OF RIPE FRUIT

Colonel Lindburgh, flying at an average speed of 200 miles per hour, supplied with the product of Beaumont's prize cherry tree and eating a cherry per second, could travel 41,600 miles.

This tree, the biggest cherry tree in Cherry Valley, is on the 35-acre orchard of K. P. Boulton. Beaumont's "Cherry King." He found time while directing a large force of pickers, sorters and buyers from six counties a few days ago to grow statistical.

50 Cherries to Pound

"This faithful Bing tree," said King Kenneth, this year produced 1500 pounds of luscious fruit. They are a superior grade, too, and it takes just 50 of them to make a pound, averaging one cherry per inch.

"The 75,000 cherries from this tree, placed and to end, equal 6,250 feet. Think of over a mile of solid cherries from one tree.

"These 75,000 cherries, eaten one a second, would require 208 hours, or eight days." (And the doctor!)

"Traveling 50 miles an hour by auto, one would travel 10,400 miles, pitting and spitting cherries.

"Sitting on a shell fired from the big Bertha gun—oh heck! you figure it."

More Figures

Special picked cherries from the Boulton orchards have measured nine cherries to the foot.

"King" K. P. Boulton indulges in more statistics on his 20-year-old Bing above mentioned. "Did you ever stop to think how by the grace of God the cherry tree must work, first in feeding itself, and then in producing 1500 pounds of fruit, 75,000 cherries, colored and glistening with nature's varnish. This tree pumps from the soil 100 gallons of rich red juice—1500 glasses." The tree is 28 feet high, with a spread of 34 feet.

Mr. Boulton is daily in personal supervision of the "Wonder Cherry" grove, which as the county's prize show cherry orchard, is one of the centers of attraction. Large Bings and Lamberts will lead in the sales up to the middle of June.

The community information committee, Supervisor Robert E. Dillon and Mayor Joseph E. Roberts, issue a personal and official invitation to the Southland, urging especially the advantage of trips through the mid-week days as well as holidays.

SEEK SOLUTION TO ICE CREAM CAN 'MYSTERY'

SACRAMENTO, June 6.—(UP)—Page Sherlock Holmes, or Dr. Watson—the state department of agriculture has a mystery to solve.

It seems that ice cream canisters have a habit of disappearing. So, according to Dr. M. E. McDonald, chief of the bureau of dairy control, manufacturers of the frozen product are quite hot about this misappropriation of their property.

The cry of "there ought to be a law" has no bearing on this case. There is a law. In an attempt to enforce the provision, a preliminary check was made in Los Angeles.

Quix Restaurant Men

As a result the proprietors of 50 eating places were hauled on the carpet. It seems the ice cream cans, because of their shape and construction, are ideal for cooking purposes, especially when they cost nothing.

"We have found as high as 15 or 20 ice cream cans in one restaurant," Dr. McDonald claims. "Cut-down cans have been found in use in zoos as water containers for animals. Florists have used them for vases, and they have been used as paint containers and even as funeral urns."

Law Forbids Use

Dr. McDonald points out that the general dairy law specifically forbids use of any milk container by other than its owner or for its intended purpose. Inasmuch as the dairy industry has $1,500,000 invested in ice cream containers, there's going to be an investigation.

The state division is going to determine where all these missing cans go, and see what can be done by enforcing the law.

All of which leads to another series of "strange disappearances." While the state hasn't "taken a hand" yet, it seems that something should be done about milk bottles, for instance.

In San Francisco, for example, it is reported that from 80,000 to 100,000 milk bottles go out of circulation each month.

Maybe "the depression" has something to do with it.

SHEEP KING

When H. Parks Tigrett quit his position as business executive and started raising sheep near Memphis, Tenn., 12 years ago, he was ridiculed. Now he is the leading sheep producer in Tennessee, having the largest number of registered Hampshires in the state.

RADIO STATION TO BROADCAST FARM LECTURES

Beginning each day at 12 p. m. and continuing 10 minutes, talks of interest to farmers, growers and producers will be given during the week beginning June 8, under the auspices of the Agricultural Extension Service, co-operating with radio station KFI, as follows:

June 8, "Citrus Question Box," W. H. Williams, assistant farm adviser, Los Angeles county.

June 9, "Farm Bureau Organization Work," Earl Maharg, executive secretary, Los Angeles County Farm Bureau.

June 10, "Puncture Vine, Its Introduction and Control," John P. Coy, agricultural commissioner, San Bernardino county.

June 11, "George P. Clements, Doctor, Agriculturist and Conservationist," Judge Harold Ide Cruzan, vice president Los Angeles Conservation association.

June 12, "Rabbit Cost Studies," L. D. Sanborn, assistant farm adviser, Los Angeles county.

EXPERTS CHOSEN FOR FARM SCHOOL

SACRAMENTO, June 6.—California is to launch an expansion program in the field of agricultural education.

Starting July 1, according to Julian A. McPhee, chief of the bureau of agricultural education, the state department of education will expand to include the agricultural department of the California Polytechnic school at San Luis Obispo.

In general, the plan is to set up a real vocational agricultural education program headed by outstanding specialists. The services of J. I. Thompson, widely known livestock man, and Dr. Theodore Macklin, former head of the agricultural economics department, University of Wisconsin, already have been secured.

Propose New Type Of Hail Insurance

The proposal that hail insurance policies for farmers should carry a 20 per cent loss deductible clause instead of the 5 per cent minimum loss clause now commonly used and that the total insurance in the policy should apply on the other 80 per cent of the crop, was made by V. N. Valgren of the U. S. department of agriculture addressing the International Conference of Hail Insurance Commissioners at Denver, Colo., June 1.

Mr. Valgren expressed the belief that "such a hail insurance policy, with the cost of insurance duly reflecting the savings to the insurance organization, would be an advantageous buy for the farmer. It would enable him to obtain and to carry substantial protection against all severe cases of hail damage at a cost representing a fraction only of what it now costs him to carry hail protection with a five per cent or 10 per cent minimum loss clause.

"Cases of damage falling below 20 per cent, or even 25 per cent, of the crop can normally be borne by the individual without serious distress. In any case, at least a 10 per cent damage can be so borne. I am convinced that to insure against any contingency the results of which one can bear oneself without serious inconvenience or distress, is a form of waste and extravagance, whereas to go without insurance against the more serious contingencies, except when forced to do so by necessity, is unwarranted recklessness."

CALIFORNIA IS LEADING STATE IN COWTESTING

California again leads all states in the country in cow testing, according to the summary of the Dairy Herd Improvement associations throughout the United States, prepared by the Bureau of Dairy Industry of the United States Department of Agriculture. This report, just published, shows California leading in total number of cows under test and in percentage of total cows of the state in testing associations, as it did last year.

Testing Shows Increase

Cow testing work throughout the country made slight increases last year, the report shows, seemingly a reflection of the depressed prices for dairy products. There was a gain in the whole country of but 3165 cows, or six-tenths of 1 per cent. This increase was due to the gain in average number of cows in associations, as there was a slight decrease in total number of associations.

"California showed an increase in total number of cows and in number of associations as well," says G. E. Gordon, dairy specialist in the University of California Agricultural Extension Service. "In only two years since cow testing work was started in this state has there been a decrease. One of these periods came during the World war and the other in 1924, which was due to foot and mouth disease. Dairymen having found testing work of real value are not only maintaining the cows under test, but are showing some increase. This work is particularly valuable as an aid in tiding the dairymen over this period of low prices.

Growth Is Consistent

"The growth of testing in California has been consistent and rather rapid during the past few years. The work started in 1929 in Humboldt county, and has continued ever since. The most noticeable increase was after 1915, with the development of the Agricultural Extension Service, and ten years since 1922, with the development of a definite dairy improvement program which uses cow testing association work as a foundation.

All the cows listed above in California are in regularly organized standard California cow testing associations, supervised by the Agricultural Extension Service of the University of California, operating under standard rules and uniform methods, in line with those adopted by the American Dairy Science Association and the United States Department of Agriculture."

Expect Reduction Of Wheat Acreage

A reduction in world wheat acreage outside Russia and China for the 1931-32 season is definitely in prospect, according to the bureau of agricultural economics, U. S. department of agriculture.

Indicated wheat acreage in 1931-32, including the intended spring wheat acreage of the United States and Canada, is 181,365,000 acres for the 1931-32 season compared with 185,278,000 acres last year. These countries represent about three-fourths of the world wheat area outside Russia and China. Acreage reductions in Argentina and Australia, not included in these figures, are expected. These reductions are apparently owing to the generally low wheat prices of the past two years.

World crop prospects are reported as less favorable than at this time a year ago. The condition of winter wheat in the United States is rated as "excellent," but that of spring wheat in the United States and Canada is "less favorable."

The condition of wheat in Europe is reported as "apparently poorer than a year ago." Russian sowings are reported to be much delayed as compared with last year's.

Strengthening of world wheat prices during April and the first half of May is attributed largely to reduction of wheat stocks to a low level in many European countries; some relaxation of importing and milling restrictions in certain of these countries, and somewhat unfavorable crop prospects in some parts of Europe and in the spring wheat regions of the United States and Canada.

Death of Young Chicks Studied

BERKELEY, June 6.—On the basis of a study of the day to day deaths of 6,398,365 baby chicks shipped by hatchery men of California during 1927, 1928 and 1929, two research men at the University of California have shown that 60 per cent of the day-old chicks may expect to have 35 per cent of the birds survive during the first 15 days. This study was made by E. C. Voorhies, associate professor of agricultural economics, and Gladwin A. Road, graduate student. Their findings have been published in the findings of "Higardia" under the title, "A Biometrical Study of the Mortality of Single Comb White Leghorn Chicks."

STRANGE STORY OF WAR IS TOLD IN NEW PICTURE

Constance Bennett, RKO-Pathé star of "Sin Takes a Holiday," has a new picture written for her by Ernest Pascal, the noted author of the best sellers. The origin of the story affords interesting material on the manner in which screen ideas germinate. The story is titled "Born to Love" and opens at the Fox West Coast theater Monday for a three-day run.

Paul L. Stein, who directed her in "Sin Takes a Holiday," acquired the skeleton idea of the new story while he was on his vacation in Europe. Stein and his wife were dinner guests at the Beverly Hills home of Miss Bennett some months later. Naturally they fell to the inevitable shop talk.

The director outlined his idea to Miss Bennett. The idea grew, took form as a highly dramatic and emotional story.

"We must make it!" cried the enthusiastic Miss Bennett. "It should be tremendous!" "There is one man we must get to do the adaptation and dialogue—Ernest Pascal," said Stein. "I'll call him right now."

It was 2 o'clock in the morning. The hours had flown unheeded while the story was coming into being. A quick connection over wires eased from the peak load of traffic.

Enthusiasm was transmitted over 3000 miles of wire. The sleepiness gradually left Pascal's voice. He became as excited as Stein at the other end of the wire. Toll charges mounted as enthusiasm grew.

Finally the receiver clicked. "I'll come immediately," Pascal had said.

It was Thursday morning when Stein called. On Friday Pascal was aboard a train, headed west. On Monday he arrived in Culver City.

Pascal, author of "The Marriage Bed," "The Dark Swan" and "The Age for Love," was in the midst of a new novel. He also was preparing to launch a play. He left everything to go to Culver City to work on the Bennett story.

In the supporting cast with Miss Bennett are Joel McCrea, Paul Cavanagh, Frederick Kerr, Anthony Bushell, Louise Closson Hale and other well-known players of the stage and screen.

STRONG DRAMA SEEN IN PLAY AT BROADWAY

Drama, neither stark nor terrifying, but intensely real, human and emotionally exciting, is seen at the Fox Broadway theater today. It is contained in "The Lawyer's Secret," in which an excellent and all-star cast, headed by Clive Brook, Charles Rogers and Richard Arlen, brings to life a tense complication of modern-day living.

The vividness of "The Lawyer's Secret" is intensified by the intelligent presentation of its drama. Its audiences are made to feel its vital significance for each one of them. Its web of circumstances might wind itself around any unthinking individual, just as it winds, in the picture, around Brook, the suave lawyer; Rogers, the weakling playboy; Arlen, the reckless young sailor.

"The Lawyer's Secret" is the story of a professional man's fight to preserve the ethics of his profession and his love for a girl, Fay Wray, by stifling his natural human duty to prevent injustice to an innocent man. Arlen, on trial for his life for a crime of which he is innocent, nearly pays the supreme penalty because Brook cannot reveal a secret confided to him by Rogers, his client and Fay's brother.

FIVE BIG ACTS JOE E. BROWN AT WALKER'S IN NEW STORY

Five high-class acts of vaudeville will grace the stage at the Fox West Coast theater Saturday and Sunday in connection with the regular feature picture, "The Vice Squad," starring Paul Lukas and Kay Francis.

The acts are all big-time acts, the best that can be procured on the West Coast and advance information on them is to the effect that they are among the best acts that the theater has advertised for the past several weeks. Mole Brothers, known as Biko and Hiko, is a bicycle act of exceptional quality; Marjorie Morgan is returned in a number of her songs and dances. She will be remembered here as having "stopped" staged at the West Coast theater. The Keatings is a semi-sketch, which is both funny and full of pathos; Ken Kennedy is a banjo act and Ritter's Rangers, a quartet, is said to be one of the best singing acts on the Coast.

"VICE SQUAD" SEEN AT FOX WEST COAST

"Framed!" The word that is on the front pages of the daily papers. The word that has become so charged with meaning since the revelations of metropolitan intrigues have gained such widespread publicity in recent months.

"Framed" will have a sensational definition in Paramount's new picture, "The Vice Squad," which comes to the Fox West Coast theater on Saturday and Sunday next.

In this amazing story of big city life as millions of newspaper readers know it today, and as many others live it, Lukas is seen as a secret agent in the employ of law and order authorities.

He falls in love with the sister of a city magistrate who is unaware of the manner in which he gets a livelihood. During a lull in his police activities he meets a young woman writer who becomes deeply enamored of him.

Joe E. Brown portrays a "has-been" football star in "Maybe It's Love," the Warner Bros. newest Vitaphone production, which is coming to Walker's State theater, starting Sunday.

Brown, who enacted the lazy prize-fighter in "Hold Everything," has switched his rare comedy antics from the squared circle to the gridiron in this collegiate comedy-drama in which he plays a pigskin star forced to warm the substitutes' bench when some real players come to his college.

Real "All-American" James Hall and 11 "all-American" gridiron stars, chosen from among the greatest football talent in the country, are seen in action on the field. The blonde and charming Joan Bennett portrays the feminine lead and proves to be the magnet which draws the football stars to her alma mater's campus. William Wellman directed "Maybe It's Love," which is adapted from Mark Canfield's stage play. Joseph Jackson did the scenario.

When the march of events makes it necessary for him to give up one or the other of the two girls he takes a step which brings the film to a suspense-packed finale.

Kay Francis plays the part of the magistrate's sister, Helen Johnson, is seen as the writer.

This picture has been furnished with an abundance of big city "atmosphere." It carries the beholder right into the very heart of metropolitan intrigue and trickery. It tells a story that only the newspapers have dared to reveal heretofore.

NORRIS' GREAT NOVEL IS NEW SCREEN SHOW

A challenge to women in love! That is the absorbing theme of the picture, "Seed," filmed from Charles G. Norris' great novel, with John Boles, Genevieve Tobin and Lois Wilson in the leading roles, which starts Sunday at the Fox Broadway theater.

There have been many "triangle" pictures, but never one like this production. It is startling in its sincerity, and the lifelike quality that dominates everything about it—story, players and direction.

A screen play dealing seriously with domestic problems is always full of interest, if it is well done. And "Seed" is much better than "well done." It is superlative—without doubt one of the best talking pictures ever produced.

The story was adapted from Norris' much-discussed best seller, and its principal roles are acted by a trio of players whose ability is of a very high order. John Boles is seen as a husband and father whose latent abilities as a writer have been wrecked because he must continually devote himself to the difficult task of supporting a large family of children. The handsome Boles reveals new powers as a dramatic actor, and proves that he can register a distinct hit in a part that does not call for the use of his singing voice.

Genevieve Tobin gives a magnificent portrayal of the boyhood sweetheart of the would-be writer. She appears ten years after his marriage and stirs his ambition, which, under her inspiration, flames into successful creative writing. Then there is the third member of this remarkable trio of players—Lois Wilson, in the role of the author's wife, the mother of his five children. Her performance is a classic of acting—unquestionably the greatest mother portrayal ever seen on the screen, and utterly natural.

It is the situation between the two women for the love of the man that dominates the action of the story; and in the telling of it Director John M. Stahl has achieved an extraordinarily dramatic and interesting production. It is the finest work this gifted director has yet contributed to the screen, and proves once more that he is a master in the field of domestic problem dramas.

The supporting cast includes Raymond Hackett, Bette Davis, ZaSu Pitts, Frances Dade, Richard Tucker and a remarkable group of five children who add greatly to the enjoyment of the picture.

SURPRISE IN STORE FOR MAHONEY FANS

Patrons of the Fox West Coast theater are promised a surprise next Wednesday night when they go to the theater to see the weekly performance of the Mahoney's Fun, Frolic and Fashion Review, according to a statement made today by Norman Sprowl, Fox theater manager here.

Just what the surprise is to be, Sprowl would not say, but a number of very handsome gifts have been given away at the weekly show each Wednesday night, and the surprise may be along this line, he indicated. Santa Ana merchants have co-operated 100 per cent in the staging of the show, and to date and each week the prizes have been of more value.

Aside from the surprise, a number of singing and dancing acts have been arranged with the girls of the Joane Gaylord dancing school here, and the entire show is to be really good entertainment.
